What did I learn about “Who the Children Are?”

How do my current “preferences” coincide with who the children actually are?

What is something I learned that made me consider adjusting my “preferences” or expectations?

In considering a child’s unique personality and how they could fit into my family versus logistical considerations (age, gender, etc.) what personality traits would be of high importance?

In review of the “Gaining Comfort...” graphics, choose at least one area that you are willing to explore more (and discuss with your worker what specific actions you will take).
